

Legion Plans Armistice Day Program Here

PUBLIC SERVICES WILL BE HELD AT MEMORIAL TOWER AND THEATRE

On November 11th, there will be held a national service from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In the cities of the east and west and in every little town across this broad Dominion the remnant of a great army will gather in memory of those comrades who have "gone west".

The cenotaphs of the cities and the humble little memorials of the prairie towns will again have their "day". On all other days the busy traffic passes them by—but this is their day.

A battle-scarred machine gun, mounted on a few stones, and the towering memorial at the Menin Gate that bears the names of 56,000 missing men, 47,500 Canadians—the mighty cenotaph in White hall and the Memorial Clock tower in Wainwright are identical in the idea that brought them forth—enduring monuments of stone and bronze that shall last through the ages.

In Wainwright ex-service men and the town people will gather again in memory of those comrades and friends that died during the World War. Ex-service men will gather at the Town hall to parade at 10:45 a.m. From there they will go to the Memorial tower. A short service will be held there, with two minutes silence, followed by laying of memorial wreaths and the sounding of "Last Post".

Services will immediately follow at the Elite Theatre.

In the evening a dinner will be held for returned men and their wives or lady friends at 8 o'clock in the Wainwright Hotel.

Urged on by the increasing need of substantial funds to assist distressed ex-service men during the coming winter, the Canadian Legion is putting forward efforts to raise an even more substantial sum than in the campaign last year. This fund will be provided by the sale of Vetscraft Poppies and wreaths.

The entire proceeds of the money contributed by the public for poppies are spent for the relief or other essential assistance, to ex-service men and women.

Join with the Legion and "BUY VETSCRAFT POPPIES ON REMEMBRANCE DAY".

BURIED ALIVE

WILKINGTON, N.C.—For three hours rescuers dug frantically for Lee Rackley, 17, buried under four feet of sand in a 16-foot hole, where he had been repairing a pump. When his head and shoulders were cleared Lee's first words were, "Is dinner ready?" He then asked for a chew of tobacco.

OWL PATROL, SCOUTS, WON LAST COMPETITION

Intra-patrol competition was held at the regular scout meeting last Wednesday, with 29 scouts present. The contest resulted as follows:

- 1st. Owl Patrol (P. L. Walker) 8 points, out of a possible 10.
- 2nd. Eagle Patrol (P. L. Winson) 4 points.
- 3rd. Wolf Patrol (P. L. Cumming) 2 points.

READING, BENNETT WILL DISCUSS TARIFF PROBLEM

MONTREAL.—The future attitude in Great Britain toward the Ottawa agreement will depend to a great extent on the operation of the Canadian tariff board. Lord Reading, eminent British statesman, said in an interview here. Lord Reading leaves today for Ottawa where he will discuss this and allied subjects with Premier R. B. Bennett.

BUT THE FLIVVER Won't Recover

Victor Goulet, the owner of a new bright green Model XYZ Ford is now in the local hospital suffering from a broken bone in his arm, thanks to this most ancient of flivvers. He, accompanied by Mr. Roy Tolmie, was giving the new buggy a workout Sunday on the race tracks south of town when the vehicle suffered a broken wheel. Tolmie jumped out and so kept himself from being injured but the driver was pinned under the car. The injury is not especially serious but the flivver, it is feared, will not recover.

High Official Here Tuesday

PAYS ANNUAL VISIT TO I.O.O.F. LODGE

Br. J. B. Allison of Granum, Alta., grand master of the Alberta I.O.O.F. lodge paid his annual official visit to the local lodge Tuesday evening. Other grand lodge officers present were Br. O. S. Martin of Hardisty, P.G.P., and Br. T. Lismore of Wainwright, D.D.G.M.

About 60 Odd Fellows from Wainwright and nearby towns attended the meeting. The chief features on the program were the addresses on the ideals and ethics of the I.O.O.F. lodge by the three grand officers.

Br. Morris of the local lodge was in the chair for the meeting which was followed by a banquet. Br. Morris and Br. Dunsmore were in charge of that part of the evening's entertainment.

LIBERAL LEADER WAS ONCE BANKER

EDMONTON, Oct. 25.—William R. Howson, B.A., LL.B., the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Howson, was born on a farm in Peterborough County, Ontario March 6, 1883, making his present age 49. After attending public, high and model schools at Norwood, Ontario, he taught school for a period.

In 1902, Mr. Howson entered the service of the Sovereign Bank of Canada, and, receiving promotion rapidly, he became the manager of a branch of that institution. In 1908 the Sovereign Bank was absorbed by the Bank of Montreal, which institution retained Mr. Howson as its manager at Sterling, Ontario, until September, 1910, when he came west and settled in Alberta.

After coming west Mr. Howson entered the University of Alberta, from which institution he graduated in 1915, in arts and law.

During Mr. Howson's student days he developed marked signs of leadership and was selected to the presidency of almost every organization within the gifts of the students.

Upon graduating he was awarded the gold medal of the university for the highest general proficiency in the last three years of his course. He also was the first graduate of the university to be elected to the senate of the institution.

Taking up the study of law, Mr. Howson spent his student days in the office of the late Hon. A. G. MacKay, long a power in Ontario, and, later, in Alberta politics.

During the World War Mr. Howson enlisted as a private and went on service overseas. Upon his return to the city he became a partner in the law firm of Parlee, Freeman & Howson. Last year he joined the legal firm of which he is now a member, Howson, Duncan, MacLachlan & Cross.

Coming from a family long active in Liberal politics in Ontario, Mr. Howson has been closely identified with the provincial and federal executives of the Liberal party in this province. Since 1925 he has been president of the provincial Liberal executive for federal affairs.

In 1921 and again in 1926, Liberals of this city urged Mr. Howson to stand for election, but for business reasons he declined. In 1930 he was elected to the provincial legislature as a Liberal member for Edmonton.

Skulls Gab, Gamins Grab on Halloween

FROZEN SOAP, FENCES THAT WALK TESTIFY TO HALLOWEEN

Were you suddenly and mysteriously beset with what one should seriously call ghosts, goblins, witches and just plain street gamins Halloween eve?

Or maybe you woke up the morning after the night before and found a piece or so of the front fence gone, or you might have acquired some fence you didn't even know existed. Don't let it worry you, the neighbors will claim it in a hurry.

And do you have a little loose building of some sort or other on your premises? If so, was it still upright? Some weren't. And also while we're on the subject, what is the best recipe for taking frozen soap from windows? And how many apples does it take to give a twelve year old gastronomic up-set?

Be that all as it may, we can lean back now and thank goodness that that particular date is rubbed off the calendar for another year. By that time almost everything should be back in their original places and ready to be moved again. Ho hum.

Freight Rate Cut is Sought

WINNIPEG.—A Winnipeg paper publishes the following:

"Agitation for the lowering of the usual winter schedule of freight rates charged by the Canadian railways for hauling grain from Georgian bay ports to the Canadian Atlantic seaboard is understood to have been started by western interests engaged in the export trade.

"It is being argued that under existing conditions, with prices to the producer very low and the necessity of selling the surplus a national problem, every effort should be made to lessen the burden on the farmer and make the sale of his commodity in the world market easier.

"It is understood the railways have a freight rate of six cents per bushel operative to the end of November, but commencing December 1, this rate will be advanced nine and one-tenth cents per bushel."

"The additional rate, it is claimed, will restrict export movement of grain during the winter months and prevent the Canadian Atlantic ports from enjoying the considerable volume of wheat trade that would move that way if the present rate of six cents were maintained.

"Since the dominion government intervened in the matter of freight rates charged on the lakes, it is understood representations have been made to Ottawa for similar action in connection with the rail rates.

TOM MIX INJURED IN SPILL WITH HORSE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Daredevil tactics of Tom Mix and his famous horse, Tony, to satisfy the appetites for action of film fans have brought serious injuries to the 32-year-old veteran motion picture cowboy for the third time in less than five years.

In an attempt to enact one of the spectacular stunts with which Mix and his noted mount have thrilled screen fans for a decade, Mix and Tony spilled near Lone Pine, Cal., in the mountains 150 miles northeast of here.

Tony was unable to negotiate a five-foot embankment down which Mix had ridden at breakneck speed.

Mix was catapulted over the horse's head and was buried beneath Tony's heavy body. Unconscious and bleeding from the mouth, Mix was taken to a nearby farmhouse where a physician administered emergency treatment.

He regained consciousness several hours later. The horse escaped injury. Physicians said they believed Mix suffered a slight concussion of the brain and a wrenched right leg. One side of his body was a mass of bruises.

High officials of the lodge present were the grand master, deputy grand master, the grand secretary and Past Grand Master Connihor of Calgary.

About 130 Masons from the Tule-to-Chauvin district were present. Wainwright Masons attending were A. C. Wittmann, R. G. Robertson, S. R. Bowerman, F. Redgewell, D. L. Plimpton, Dr. H. L. Courcier, J. H. Clifton, J. Whittle, E. T. Thurston, J. Patterson, E. L. Cora and C. Lally.

Farmers Ask for Gov't Help

REFUSE TO ACCEPT PREMIER'S STATEMENT THAT FUNDS ARE LACKING

WINNIPEG.—A campaign of western farm organizations for a five-cent bonus on the 1932 wheat crop will not be halted by the announcement in parliament by Rt. Hon. R. F. Bennett that the federal government could not grant their request.

Canada's financial position, the prime minister said, would not permit the granting of a bonus this year.

The United Farmers of Alberta, the prairie governments and the wheat pool executives had sought a bonus. The U.F.A. urged a five-cent grant for both wheat and coarse grains, but the government heads and the wheat pools merely asked a bonus be given, not stating whether it should be on a per-bushel or acreage plan.

Under the 1931 bonus scheme, the federal government paid out $11,000,000 to western agriculturists; but there was some criticism of the plan, some members from the west declaring it should have been based on a one-dollar-per-acre grant.

Norman F. Priestley, vice-president of the U.F.A., commenting on Mr. Bennett's announcement, indicated the fight for the 1932 bonus would not yet be considered closed.

An executive meeting of the U.F.A. will be held in Calgary on October 27, and the bonus question will be the chief business for discussion. Unless a bonus is granted, Mr. Priestley declared, "more farmers than expected will go without any profit whatever on this season's crops."

Premier J. E. Brownlee refused any comment last night. "I may have something to say later on the federal government's decision," he said, "but at this time I do not care to say anything."

Premier Anderson of Saskatchewan, also declined to comment.

U.F.A. Holds Caucus

The United Farmers of Alberta group in the house of commons was in caucus at Ottawa this afternoon, when, it was understood, the question of the 5 cents a bushel bonus on wheat was considered.

Members of the party were inclined to view with some disquietude the statement of the prime minister that "the financial position of the country would not permit payment of the bonus in 1932." They repeated the need for this subsidy was more urgent this year than last.

The precipitate drop in wheat prices yesterday at Winnipeg, which continued today, is viewed with misgivings by Progressive members and doubts were expressed whether, in view of the entry shortly into the world market of Argentine and Australian wheat, the volume Canadian exports would be maintained.

MARKETS

An all-time record low price for wheat was set yesterday when the price dropped to 26 cents per bushel, two and one half cents below the previous week's record price. The week's prices were furnished by the United Grain Growers elevator:

Day	Wheat
Wednesday	28½c
Thursday	28½c

Good Hunting, Less Shooting of Wild Fowl

MALLARD DUCKS INCREASED IN NUMBER; SEASON WILL CLOSE NOV. 14

Hurry Up! you only have till the fourteenth of this month to get your supply of ducks and geese for this year. After that you're out of luck for the year of 1932.

The only thing that you have left to shoot at around this part of the country after that is Hungarian grouse and that season closes the last of the month.

This year there has been a marked increase of Mallard duck around here, while the average amount of geese and other kinds of duck has been noted.

Although there has been more than the average of game this year there has been far less shooting. In this vicinity it is estimated that there has been only 65 per cent of the shooting done this year as in the previous year.

So get out your gun and get your goose. There's plenty left for you.

Eleven Pupils Given Prizes

HIGH-RANKING SCHOLARS IN EACH GRADE HONORED

Eleven pupils in the Wainwright public and high schools, the highest ranking students for last year in each of the eleven grades, were awarded medals in ceremonies at the school Friday afternoon. The medals are presented annually by the Wainwright school board.

The winners were: Audrey Bradley, first grade; Mary Huston, second grade; Catherine Wyllie, third grade; Donald Kyle, fourth grade; Donald Schleck, fifth grade; Catherine Forbes, sixth grade; Doris Kyle, seventh grade; Vera Hausfeld, eighth grade; Charlie Adamson, ninth grade; June Keen, tenth grade; Virginia Gray, eleventh grade.

The medals were presented by H. C. Montgomery, president of the school board, who gave talks in connection with the presentations. The second, third, fourth and fifth grades met in the cottage school, the sixth, seventh and eighth grades met together, and the high school met in another group. In the older grades the winning pupils replied "briefly or not so briefly, but fittingly" to Mr. Montgomery's remarks.

Bronze medals are given in the public school grades and silver medals in the high school.

Coming Events are listed on the society page. Call The Star if you want a meeting listed there.

JAPAN BATTLES CHINA, DELIVERS WARSHIP

SHANGHAI.—For a year undeclared war between China and Japan has been going on, all the time in Manchuria and for two months in Shanghai.

But Japan has just delivered at Shanghai a first class warship which she has been building for China since May 1931. Japanese warships are in port and threatening action if the anti-Japanese boycott here does not cease and while a section of the Japanese fleet lies in the river at Shanghai the new Japanese-built Chinese warship steams up-river and is taken over by the "enemy."

The new vessel is a destroyer of 3,000 tons, costing $2,500,000, has a speed of 25 knots and represents an advanced type of naval craft. She is called the "Ninghai."

ANOTHER HUNTING ACCIDENT

KETCHIKAN, Alaska.—Mickey Wells, prospector, aimed carefully at the head of a deer moving in the woods below him and shot. The deer dropped. So, too, did Clyde Hannagan with a bullet wound through his arm. Hannagan had killed the animal and was carrying it to camp.

NOW'S THE TIME to Fall in Love

Who says the depression is here? There's one old standby who can tell a different story. That old reputation, Dan Cupid, has been doing big things in a big way this last month. Wainwright led off with four weddings, Edgerton also had four, Irma two and Vermilion two, at least so The Star file tells us.

All in all, it makes a grand total of twelve weddings for the month of October, which ought to be a record breaker. And as to whether two can live as cheaply as one, this makes a good time for someone to do some heavy research work. Here's to bigger and better statistics.

QUESTION 'SUSPECT' IN LINDBERGH CASE

SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 26.—At the request of the United States vice-consul, police Wednesday detained a man who gave his name as Jean Saul, and arranged to send him to Madrid for questioning in connection with the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby.

He was apprehended after the United States consulate had received an anonymous note from two sailors who said they had talked with Saul in a saloon here and he "seemed to know entirely too much about the Lindbergh kidnapping." The vice-consul asked the police to investigate and it was discovered that Saul's identification papers were incomplete.

Police also said he made contradictory statements about his nationality, then declined to answer further questions, declaring that he would tell nothing more "until I can face the American police where I can expect fairness."

Detectives who questioned him said that he had admitted he knew something about the kidnapping and the distribution of the $50,000 ransom paid for the child's return.

Police said Saul told them that friends in the French consulate at New York had helped him to obtain a French passport which he burned when he entered Spain so that the friends would not be compromised.

Tags on his baggage showed that he had been in Genoa, Nice, Toulouse and Barcelona. Labels of New York clothing houses were on his suits. Apparently the only money he had was 600 pesetas—about $45.

PIONEER HONORED

About 150 persons gathered in the community hall at McLaughlin Tuesday, Oct. 25, to celebrate the seventy-fifth birthday of Mrs. David Cameron of that district, one of western Canada's oldest and most respected citizens. Out of a family of 15 children nine were able to be present, and 11 out of 21 grandchildren were present. Mrs. Cameron came to western Canada in 1878 by way of Duluth, coming overland in a Red River cart, then up the Red river by boat to Winnipeg, then by Red River cart to Gladstone, Manitoba, where she first settled. There she was married to David Cameron.

Public Talk on Prosperity To Be Nov. 9

PROVINCE OFFICIALS WILL SPEAK; TWO PROGRAMS ARE PLANNED

"How to solve the depression problem" is the topic to be taken up at a public meeting in Wainwright Wednesday, Nov. 9. This is one of a series of meetings sponsored through Alberta by the Retail Merchants association.

Speakers at the Wainwright meeting will include Mr. J. R. Love, M.L.A., Mr. Howard Stutchbury, trade commissioner and Mr. A. C. MacKay, secretary of the Retail Merchants association. General topics listed under the "How to solve the depression problem" heading are more prosperous farms, bigger pay envelopes and a solution for unemployment. A large attendance is urged.

The general public meeting will be held in the I.O.O.F. hall at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. In addition a special meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening for the merchants and their assistants, who will of course not be free to attend the afternoon meeting.

UNEMPLOYED MEN RIOT FOR RELIEF

EDMONTON.—While a mob of some 1,200 single unemployed men milled about the street in front of the city hall Monday night, city council sat in the crowded council chamber within, and after lengthy deliberation decided to give food and shelter to the single jobless. This motion, moved by Ald. J. W. Findlay, also carried the recommendation that the Dominion and provincial governments be urged to take immediate action for the relief of the men.

The announcement was greeted with prolonged cheering by the mob which jammed the street and overflowed into the Market Square. For two hours they howled and jeered while waiting the decision of council which came at about 10 o'clock. While the demonstration did not wax violent at any time, windows in the lower story of the city hall were smashed by stones and one car parked on the street was damaged, according to police reports.

More laughs this week in "Ramblin'" on page seven and "Thus and Such" on page four. Look them up.

ALF LILLY SUFFERS SEVERE EYE INJURY

Alf Lilly, while working around the railroad Saturday not far from Wainwright, had the grave misfortune to catch a piece of steel in one eye. The steel penetrated back into the socket and caused a heavy flow of blood.

Lilly was brought to town by his father to Dr. Wallace. The eye was drained and bandaged so the patient could travel to Edmonton where he underwent an operation. Whether he will be able to retain the use of the eye is doubtful.

APPLE DAY SUCCESS

BUFFALO PHILOSOPHY

Perhaps, scientifically speaking, a Buffalo has no philosophy, but in view of that fact, he minds his own business, and that is more than some of us boasted human do. A buffalo has to his credit, buffalo sense, traits and individuality, and here again he scores a point over the great herd of humans. He has sense enough to quit eating and drinking when he is full. It is not self control, but brute intelligence. Humans make gluttons and fools out of themselves, and indignation and a bursting headache is the reward. A buffalo has gumption enough to lie down when he is FULL and the average human, when he has taken on a JAG, seems obsessed with the idea that he must totter, chatter, amble around in circles and expose all the real secrets which is nobody's business but his own. Not only does this refer to practically every function which the two-legged animal called MAN, pulls off in business and his domestic life but in his SOCIAL contacts as well. Of course, about every so often, the bulls of the buffalo herd have a contest of elimination, but when one gets licked, he takes his defeat as final, separates himself from the herd, goes off by himself and minds his own business. A lot of humans are THROUGH, excused from the circle of society where they circulated but do not have sense enough to realize it.

I see by the papers that a slaughter will soon take place here in our park, and many places of buffalo will be culled out and shot. I almost hear someone shouting, My goodness, does the editor of the Wainwright Star advocate that a culling process should take place once a year and that about so many people should be taken out into the alley and SHOT. No, I did not say that, but I have thought about it. In fact, I have felt many times that someone ought to shoot me and there would be one less pest in the community, and that I am dead and don't know it. Especially, since I became an editor. Seriously, friends, I just wonder how many corpses there are among us still walking around, who should be knocked in the head or shot. I think it is absolutely necessary for all of us to look at ourselves in the glass every day before we start to work and earnestly question ourselves, "Well, just what am I worth to my family or society? Am I a sponge or a sponsor? Am I a shirker or a jerk? Am I a flapper or a flop? Am I a sleeper or a pillar? Am I an ass or an asset?" Well I could ramble along, but I hope this will provoke real thought.

Just because we don't THINK there are rotten individuals and rotten society, and rotten business and a rotten world. It smells, it smoulders, it smears and smacks with selfishness, greed, lust and slander. Someone has said that about every so often there should be a war to kill off a lot of people or the world would be overpopulated. The trouble with that HUMAN philosophy is that it is the best of mankind and womanhood that is slaughtered in WAR. It is the survival of the weakest, instead of the Fittest.

I have rather prided myself on writing editorials that had some laugh and cheer in them, but there was more or less common sense in some of them. By this time you are aware that I can really be serious especially when it comes to considering weighty matters, as to whether I should utilize the energy to trim my corns this week or wait until next week, as the strenuous tussle involved in said exercise might cause an overexertion of energy, when it could be directed in the line of growling and grumbling at my family, for they need that plenty and I need it a whole ocean full.

Now here we are, just on the verge of observing remembrance day and Mr. Horne told me this morning that the wives of the ex-soldiers will conduct a poppy sale in connection with the world wide event. The very suggestion, and the color of the poppy reminds me of the red, human blood, the most priceless asset of life, which ran in rivers during the recent world war, representing the flow of the human race. But that is not the end of the dreadful story. Note the thousands of men who came back, but who left parts of their body over there. Yes, and more tragic, they came back mental, physical as well as moral and spiritual wrecks. My GOD, (and I say this in sincere reverence) what a world, what a world, what a wreck, what a waste, what a worry, how pathetic. It should be enough to force every one of us to bow before Almighty God in deepest reverence, and humbly confess our sins and pray that God will stay the hand, that even at this moment, is extending its slimy hand to seize the youth of the world and drag us into a more terrible and destructive war than has ever before been dreamed.

Friends, as a common citizen, just a humble member of the HERD, I plead of you, as we are approaching this remembrance day, let us do it in the most serious frame of mind. Let us resolve to wage a war, not prompted by a spirit of lust and greed, but prompted by the Spirit of Jesus Christ, who, when he faced the tragic moment of his life, said to impulsive Peter, "Put up thy sword, my kingdom is not won by the sword, but by the POWER of the Almighty." The power of the Almighty takes the fight out of the human race. It supplants greed and lust with divine regard for that precious thing, human life, for man is possessed with a soul, a spirit that can be set on fire with divine inspiration, which cleanses, refines and renews the minds of men. Will we let the Devil in us rule or will we say as the Master, "Get thee behind me Satan, I must DO the will of my Heavenly Father."

Let this remembrance day be solemnized with a renewal of our duty to our fellow man and to Almighty God. "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord."

Hear Ye, Hear Ye

Here's something we received that makes us puff out our collective and respective Zook chests. We hear the writer is Mr. G. A. Bond of Heath:

AN ODE TO THE "STAR"

The "Star" now printed in Wainwright is a paper both cheery and bright. If things continue as such, This is not asking for much. The sales will increase overnight.

The "Star" bright and breezy with humor is worth much more than you pay for.

So to help matters out I am raking about The brains, lying so long in a stupor.

So ye people of the town of Wainwright, Rally round your paper with delight. For not taking it I know. In these days of war, Is a sad case of oversight.

I take the "Star" to keep in the light.

Tho' sadly in arrears my sad plight. But some day before long When good times come along I shall pay and renew with delight.

No man is free who is not master of himself.—Epictetus.

MUSSOLINI IS ALWAYS RIGHT

Condensed from Current History (July, '32)

"A book and a rifle, a perfect Fascist," Mussolini has said. Apparently the rifle is the more important. In the second-year text-book which is standard for all Italian school children, is a drawing of a little Fascist holding a pen greater than himself. On the wall his shadow projects the enlarged image of a Fascist soldier holding a rifle. The Fascists rightly assert that their work among the children in the nation's schools is the most "Fascist" of all their achievements.

The Fascist belief is that idealism has an important influence on the development of personality. In actual practice this means the inculcation of every student of a feeling of national consciousness or patriotism, and consequently, "textbooks in history, geography, economics and law and elementary school readers must be in accordance with the historical, political, juridical and economic requirements established since Oct. 28, 1922"—the date of the March on Rome. When it was found that none of the existing textbooks fulfilled these conditions, uniform State textbooks were proposed to bring about "the spiritual formation of the new Italian."

A single textbook comprises for every elementary grade all the information during the year in spelling, arithmetic, history, geography and religion. The dominant idea of these textbooks is the greatness of Italy: "The Italian land is blessed by God." "Italy," says the father to his boy, in one story, "is great, strong, powerful, feared, and you, my boy—" but he is interrupted by the child: "I am an Italian, how fortunate!" The other nations simultaneously fear and threaten Italy. The thought of aggression is introduced while the child still reads by syllables. In the second-year textbook a child says to his father: "Tell me, daddy, did you know the soldiers who died in the war, whose names are inscribed on the monument?" Certainly, the father replies. When the boy asks, "And who killed them?" he receives the answer, "Our enemies, the Austrians and the Germans." The text continues: "The idea that he one day will be a soldier, will fight and vanquish the enemies of his country, inspires him."

To become a soldier, these books teach, is the vocation of every Italian and obedience is the first principle of a soldier. "When a wise man was asked, 'What is the highest virtue of a child?' he answered, 'Obedience.' 'And the second?' 'Obedience.' 'And the third?' 'Obedience.' Obedience to the legitimate authorities first of all: 'Every authority comes from God; who resists authority resists God.' Any individualism, which may take the form of criticism, is reprehensible, and never is a child required to make any decision according to his conscience. In the textbooks all the families give proof of perfect Fascist sentiments. For them, as for the children, Fascism is the supreme expression of the Italian nation and Mussolini is always right.

To have as many sons as possible, future soldiers, is the vocation of the Italian women. In a second-year textbook a controversy between a boy and his sister is thus settled by the grandfather: "And you must know that if the little girls did not love their dolls so dearly you would not have so many soldiers for war." Below a textbook picture we read, "God bless you and give you many children."

Thus for four years, between the ages of six and ten, the reading and thought of the Italian child center around problems of war. Veneration for the head of the Fascist government assumes, also, the form of a religious cult. In the textbook for the third year there is a description of the visit to the birthplace of Mussolini: "We penetrate into the room where he was born; when we leave the house we seem to have grown better."

School life accentuates the lessons of the textbooks. An event of particular importance is the dedication of the members of the portrait of the Duce, but he is not the only image Italian children worship. There are the members of his family, Italian Generals, and above all, the dead soldiers of the World War. Many classes choose a soldier whom they may worship. They write to his family for his portrait and, not infrequently, it is hung on the wall under an ever-burning light. Fascist inscriptions decorate the classroom.

Since Fascism is the perfect expression of everything that is good and desirable, the supreme ambition of every Italian child, according to the textbooks, is to enter the Fascist youth organizations, to become a Balilla or a Piccola Italiana (a member of the organization for the little Italian girls). Although enrolment in the Fascist youth organizations is not compulsory, those who, because of the objection of their families, do not enter are constantly made to feel ashamed. Teachers are obliged to enroll as many students as possible and may attempt to influence the attitude of parents. Today, as a result, half the Italian school children are either Balilla or Piccola Italiane. The other half go to school in agricultural districts where the population is too sparse to make an organization possible or attend religious schools.

Members of the Balilla and Piccola Italiane are between eight and 14 years of age; they automatically graduate into higher societies and become Avanguardisti or Giovane Fascisti, as a stepping stone to their entry into the Fascist party at the age of 21.

An imitation of the ancient Roman way, the boys are grouped into legions in charge of school teachers who belong to the militia, or militia officers. The organization provides for all forms of sport, but military aims are dominant. Acts of bravery, examples of strength of character and of firmness of will are the titles of merit in the ranks of the Balilla. Even the education of women is influenced by this warlike spirit. On the occasion of the athletic competition in Rome in 1928, the instructions for the Giovane Italiane were that "on arriving at the capital, each shall carry a rifle; among the competitions the most important is to be shooting." The section on aid defense of the youth organization alone is training 10,000 Italian boys; the Avanguardisti are definitely trained for military life.

This war spirit is not without a purpose, shifting according to the demands of the moment. "Do not forget that Dalmatia is Italian and that, nevertheless, it belongs to Yugoslavia," reads the student's identification card for the University of Turin. The spirit of militarism and aggressiveness is carried into higher education. For a long time the universities were strongholds of liberal thought. But by stages the Fascist authorities have tightened their grip on the professors. A decree of January, 1927, provided that schools and universities may be abolished by the government if their teachings showed disrespect for the institutions of the present regime.

The military education of the youth of Italy will undoubtedly build up a generation whose supreme ambition is war. It matters little against what country the spirit of distrust is directed. What is important is that it will prove extremely difficult, if not impossible, to eradicate or even modify the militaristic outlook of Italian youth, and unless that attitude is changed, it may seed for future European wars.

HOW CHRIST DRAWS

My Father's Help

Mr. Charles Putnam, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, formerly a ranchman and a business man in Kansas, and I were chatting in my office one day, when Mr. Putnam said, "A gentleman once asked me if my father helped me in my business start. I replied, 'No.' Mr. Putnam was thinking purely of money and his father did not have money to give him, so he made his own start so far as that was concerned. He continued, 'I was thinking after that of what my father really did for me, and I was compelled to modify my thought in respect to that matter.'

"When I was a young fellow, I thought I would like to go into the lumber trade. I had saved up fifteen hundred dollars from some farming enterprise I had been in. I put one thousand dollars in the lumber business and five hundred into a little home. My partners and backers were millionaire lumbermen of Hannibal, Missouri. They took the financial responsibility. I took the responsibility of management and we divided the profits. Years afterward, I got to thinking how strange it was that these wealthy men should have trusted me as they did without security, putting their capital really in my power, so far as branch business was concerned. I said to one of them one day, 'How did it happen that you trusted me as you did, a young man without experience, with very little capital? It has seemed strange to me, that you gave me such large confidence as you did.' He replied briefly, but with a smile which I shall never forget, 'I knew your father.' So the fact really was that I owed my father for my opportunity. If he had not been the sort of a man he was, I would have not been trusted as I was. So that, instead of it being true that my father did not help me in business, it was a fact that my whole business career, so far as it was determined by that engagement, was to be credited to his integrity and kindly relations with his fellow men."

I imagine that most of us do not know very well to whom we are indebted. Perhaps it would be a good thing, once in a while, for us to undertake to learn. It probably would not hurt other people at all, and almost certainly it would do us good."

Pass on your Christ-Deed
She called it her Christ-deed, a kind deed she had done for someone every Christmas for twenty years. At the mining camp she told a reckless young man who was her assistant cook, how she was led to make this gift. One Christmas time her husband was thrown from his horse on the Kansas prairie, and would have died there with his broken limb had it not been for a family by the name of Hollandbecker who happened to come across him. "They were good to him as good can be," she said. "They had to stop and camp out ten days, he was that bad off, and they sent two hundred miles for a doctor. Mrs. Hollandbecker let her husband and two young ones shift for themselves mostly while she took care of him. When he came home, I'd saved fifty dollars keeping boarders, so I sent it to her for him to go good as to save him. She sent it right back with that letter. Read it to me again, Joe, I never get tired of it." And Joe read with a husky voice: "It was merely my Christ-deed for Christmas day. Will you pass it on in spirit each Christmas?"

"You can tell by what she says that they're rich and don't want for anything," said the woman, "but I've never got over wanting to do something nice for her."

When Christmas came the assistant cook was missing, and the door of Christmas deeds feared that he had gone off with some wild companions, till a miner brought her this message: "Say, Mrs. Staples, Joe ain't gone on a booze. He hasn't been home in years—folks had no idea where he was—and he struck the home trail yesterday. He said to tell you he'd reach his mother tonight. Wanted me to tell you his name is Hollandbecker, and that his mother would sure think you paid back her Christ-deed—whatever that means!"

YOUTH

The period of transition from childhood to adult life presents certain problems. It is often pointed out how different is the youth of today from the youth of yesterday. Certainly he is different, but it is not because the youth himself is different, but that he lives under conditions which have changed greatly during the past twenty years.

Home life is changed. The motor-car is a factor which has altered life in many ways. Recreation is found outside the home. There are the movies—to mention but one thing which has had a great influence in changing the habits of life.

It is quite natural for youth to desire independence and to be irritated by the authority of parents and adults. Youth is restless and impatient with his elders, who are so sure that he should be guided by their experience "for his own good."

It is difficult for the average parent to believe or to practice the belief that considerable freedom in development secures the independence so necessary for success in life. The aim of parents should be to guide without curbing, to direct and not to attempt to control by authority.

Youth is not free from physical health hazards. Amongst the defects which develop during adolescence are those of vision. A periodic checking-up of sight and hearing is most desirable, as good vision and hearing are assets required in most occupations.

The outstanding physical menace of youth is fatigue. Added to the pressure of school work or of the early years of employment is the new social life. It is most desirable that every person should have a social life, but it is equally true that sufficient rest and sleep are required. During this period tuberculosis is not uncommon, and its development seems to be associated with the lowered physical condition due to fatigue from too many social activities which carried into the early morning hours, means loss of sleep.

The best preparation for youth is a healthy childhood. The practice of a periodic check-up of the physical condition should be continued, with special attention to eyes, ears and teeth. The youth below par should not be allowed to go on without finding the cause of his condition.

Parents should be sympathetic with youth and try to realize that his impatience, resentment and what may appear to them rudeness are the natural if crude expression of his desire for independence which comes with manhood.

Democratic orators are paying a handsome tribute to Mr. Hoover when they credit him with causing the bad times all over the globe.—Calgary Herald.

Do You Remember When - - - -

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 30, 1912

Householders of Wainwright were relieved of a flour famine yesterday when local flour dealers received long delayed shipments. For the past two weeks flour has been so scarce that it was necessary for the local bakery to stop activities and bread was brought in from Edmonton, to supply customers and local hotels. One shipment from Manitoba has been on the road for five weeks and was last heard of as being in Calgary.

More activity was seen on Main street Thursday afternoon than has been evidenced on any ordinary week day for a long time. What occasioned the activity was a motion picture man here to take pictures of the buffalo park in the local reserve. About 1000 feet of reel was taken, amounting to a cost of $120. If the purchase of the reel is made the town will no doubt be advertised in all leading cities of the continent.

While shooting at Baxter Lake Will Washburn and Bert Laird, two veteran sportsmen of this district, had splendid luck last week and succeeded in bagging several large geese. One weighed over 14 pounds and is one of the largest of the season.

As yet no new men have come forward to announce their intention of running for vacancies made by these councillors, W. J. Musson, W. B. Crawford and G. H. Beaudry. That will not be candidates is almost certain. It is thought, however, that pressure will be brought to bear on these men in an effort to secure one of them for the mayor's chair.

Mr. John Harper who was located here for about two years at the station restaurant and who was transferred to Fitzburg was a visitor here last week. Mr. Harper is located in a country where to travel without an unsealed gun is dangerous.

Chicken season closes tomorrow and local sportsmen cannot deny that this year has been one of the most successful seasons in the short history of these parts. It can safely be stated that more chickens have been bagged this fall than ever before.

TEN YEARS AGO
Nov. 1, 1922

Last week while at play in the yard of the Mayfield school, a very painful accident occurred whereby an arrow which little Frank Woods was shooting at a mark entered the eye of his brother Donald. The little fellow was rushed to the hospital in Edmonton where an operation was performed on the injured optic. It is not known whether the eye will be lost or impaired.

On Thursday last quite a constant stream of autos ran between the town and the new oil well which has just been completed. It was getting dusk before the actual steam was turned on and the big drill started. There was a fair number still left of the large crowd which had gathered earlier in the day to witness Mrs. R. Aykroyd turn on the steam. Everything went off beautifully and it was but a short time before the drillers announced "Twenty feet down." At this rate it should be only a few weeks before news is brought to town that the well has "come in."

A new boiler and smokestack have now been ordered for the power plant. This means that those periodical and unpleasant "shut downs" of the power plant are soon to be a thing of the past. This means that two mornings of every week from seven to noon there will be an electric current for users of appliances such as washers and ironers. It is hoped that the people will cooperate and use these articles at this time instead of the evening when all the available current should be used for lighting.

A fairly well attended meeting of the Puck Chasers was held Friday at the town hall. Dr. Wallace, the president, was unavoidably absent and Mr. M. Greer acted as chairman. Election of officers took place and Dr. Wallace was unanimously re-elected president. Mr. George Sheton was elected vice-president and Messrs. Washburn, Wallace and Gerow were appointed as the finance committee. It was a lucky escape which "Dad" Dunning experienced at the park last week, when he unfortunately got beneath the heels of a horse attached to a wagon. Although the animal kicked him on the head it was not severe enough to cause "Dad" any inconvenience.

Mrs. W. Plaxton was rushed to the hospital in Edmonton Wednesday to be operated on immediately. We understand she is progressing nicely now.

ONE YEAR AGO

Mr. Hugh Moore is lying in the local hospital suffering terribly from serious burns about the face, hands, and wrists. He has been for some time in charge of the pumping plant at the B.P. well No. 2. The accident occurred when he tried to check the engine and it immediately exploded. He was rushed to the hospital by Harry Elliott who was on the scene, and is at present under a doctor's care and progressing as well as could be expected.

Last Thursday morning a Chevrolet truck being used for trucking wheat just managed to get to town when the driver, Jack Carroll, having trouble with his engine, stopped to put things right. The engine immediately burst into flame. The fire brigade was called but the fire was out by the time they arrived due to a pail of water donated from The Star office.

The local troop of Boy Scouts under the direction of C. Lilly, gave a display of scouting activities to the public. There was knotting, tumbling, signalling, pyramid building, games and first aid work. The latter was inspected by Dr. Wallace and Miss Page who praised the work immensely. The evening wound up with scout songs in which all joined heartily.

The matron of the hospital acknowledges gifts of peaches, jelly and other articles from Mrs. G. Carlson during the past week.

Last Friday evening the ladies of the St. Thomas congregation W.A. made a presentation of a silver mesh purse to one of their members, Mrs. C. A. Walton, as a memento upon her leaving town. The choir members of the church also honored Mrs. Walton with a nice gift.

Mrs. N. B. Kenny was called to her parental home at Clarksburg, Ont., on Tuesday of last week by a telegram announcing the serious illness of her father, Mr. Thomas Idle.

Get Rid of That SORE THROAT!

Any little soreness in the throat grows rapidly worse if neglected. Crush some tablets of Aspirin in some water, and gargle at once. This gives you instant relief, and reduces danger from infection. One good gargle and you can feel safe. If all soreness is not gone promptly, repeat. There's usually a cold with the sore throat, so take two tablets to throw off your cold, headache, stiffness or other cold symptoms. Aspirin relieves neuralgia, neuritis, too. Use it freely; it does not hurt the heart.

Thus and Such

By So and So

Weekly Novelle Horace Aurelius Augustus Fitzmickle was just a poor, uncouth-looking fellow, trying to make a name for himself. Horace Aurelius Augustus had never had any opportunities though his father had been the most prosperous farmer in the country. He had made a good living raising bulls for the stock market of Wall Street, but his business had been hit by the depression. There just wasn't any sale for bulls any more.

Horace Aurelius Augustus himself was very progressive. When he heard of the 'depression' he said to himself, "Horace Aurelius Augustus Fitzmickle, if it is a depression the people want, we must give them a bigger and better depression." So Horace Aurelius Augustus wrote into a correspondence school for a course on "How to make HEY! Hey! while there's moonshine" and from this he learned all about the depression.

Horace Aurelius Augustus worked diligently on this course. He used to sit up far into the wee hours of the morning learning to be depressed. As time progressed Horace Aurelius Augustus went out among his neighbors to pass on to them all he had learned about being depressed. As time went on people began to listen and understand and become depressed. In fact Horace Aurelius Augustus got so depressed he decided to end it all, which he did.

And that, dear little boys and girls of radioland, is our success story for this evening. Doesn't it inspire you to go out and make yourself famous too? Ah, how glad I am to hear that. Perhaps next week we shall be able to print one of YOUR stories in this column. And now, boys and girls, station HUM signing off until next week, when we may have another weekly novelette.

This G.A.B. from Heath refuses to be squelched. Last week, we assigned him to a bitter death in the last of the limericks but he comes right back with a proposal of marriage. At least that's what it sounds like to Such; but Thus won't admit it. Here it is:

Now "Thus and Such" are a very great pair, Though with the same bad fault, red hair, And I am sure from their looks That this hot pair of Zooks Would scalp me sure if they caught me in my lair.

Now "Thus and Such" would like to look And take a peep within my book. But what a plot! To take my rot! And take the praise from Editor Zook!!!

But "Thus and Such" will not see my book, Especially the one called Mrs. M. Zook.

But the other one may, Now don't say me nay, Just come right along and be my cook.

—Ho Hum— Sorry to disappoint you, G.A.B., but if you'd ever eaten any of her cooking you'd take back that offer.

—Crum-MY— G.A.B. writes serious poetry as well as limericks, so one of these days we may print one of those.

—By Gum— And Thus was just talking about a man who ran into a car riding horse—Which reminds Such of some other classics like "Mrs. Smith is so ill that she is confined to her bed on Main street" and "When the baby has finished its bottle, disconnect it and put it in boiling water."

—Fee, fi, fo fum— We think this takes a prize. The sassiest editor of this here sheet was trying to call one local woman one day within the last two months and the woman's phone was busy for one hour and ten minutes. We don't remember who it was so there's no use asking us.

—Mum— Here's the week's limerick—again a borrowed one— There was a young lady from Ryde, Of eating green apples she died.

ELKS HAD HALLOWEEN DANCE LAST MONDAY

Halloween was celebrated this year with an Elks dance, held at the Elks Theatre. The place was decorated in the Elks colors of purple and white, and a pair of huge antlers adorned the two sides of the stage where the orchestra headquarters.

On one pair of antlers was the cushion, the prize for the spot dance won by Miss B. Coffield and Harold Massey. On the other pair of antlers was a comforter, the raffle prize won by Joe Tondue. The grand prize of the evening was won by Miss Olive Wheeler for holding the lucky ticket. The prize was a pen and pencil set.

Approximately 250 persons were at the dance which was a Halloween carnival affair. Paper caps, novelties, whistles, serpentine and confetti made the dance a hilarious one after midnight.

W.M.S. Had Annual Fall Supper Saturday

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church held their annual fall tea Saturday at the I.O.O.F. hall. It was a chilly snowy night and the ladies presented their patrons with a very nice contrast by making them acquainted with a food-laden table which quickly became still more laden with food as soon as one sat down. There was a good attendance all through the evening. The ladies reported the affair a success.

GLADYS OLSEN WED TO EVERETT STIMSON

Miss Gladys Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Olsen of the Rosedale district, and Warren Everett Stimson, formerly of Irma, son of L. B. Stimson, were married quietly at the United Church parsonage in Wainwright at 12:30 noon last Wednesday. Rev. W. J. Huston officiated. The bride's father was the only guest at the wedding.

Girl Guides Held Halloween Party

The Girl Guides, under the direction of their captain, Miss Kathleen Hart, had a Halloween party Thursday evening instead of their regular meeting. A peanut scramble was the first course on the menu, then came a short talk on first aid, followed by a sentence contest. The second course then made its appearance—orange and black candies for Halloween. The dessert was apples, with a scramble for them that would have made an egg proud. The group adjourned with the Lord's Prayer as is the custom, and they all left for home filled to capacity.

WEDDING OF CLARENCE ROGERS, MARY E. EBBERN SOLEMNIZED WEDNESDAY

A quiet wedding was solemnized last Wednesday morning, Oct. 26, at the United Church parsonage when Miss Mary Elizabeth Ebbren and Clarence Leslie Rogers, both of Wainwright, were united in marriage. Mrs. Gertrude Ebbren, mother of the bride, and Russell Denson were guests at the wedding.

Rosedale Ladies Aid Had Program Last Week

The Rosedale Ladies Aid had an enjoyable afternoon Thursday of last week. Their regular monthly meeting was in the form of a sale of work and program followed by contests and a social time. Mrs. Graham Boyd, Mrs. Frank Redmond and Rev. Mr. Bainbridge were those taking part in the program. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting.

MORNA HEFFERNAN WAS HONORED AT SHOWER

The Catholic Women's League held their regular monthly meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Emanuel Peterson. Miss Morna Heffernan, who is the C.W.L. secretary, was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower, given in honor of her approaching marriage. She became the bride of Michael Stang Monday morning. Miss Heffernan received many nice kitchen gifts and other gifts at the shower. The League presented her with a silver knife and fork set.

A regular business meeting was held. Miss Heffernan gave a report on the C.W.L. convention which she attended recently in Edmonton. After the meeting Mrs. G. Leroux and Mrs. Alex Horne served a luncheon. About 18 members were present at the meeting.

Within the lamented They quickly fermented And made cider inside her inside.

—Rum— And this, M.M.Z., is how to write a column?

THUS and SUCH

Halloween Fun at Masked Dance

The shades of night were falling fast, A guy stepped on it and rushed past. A titter, he entered without a sound, Everybody looked around, But all that any of them found Was just another masquerader.

And so they came, and still they came, Big shots and little shots, hot shots and what-nots. They were all with their little nose-pieces, trying to look like something besides themselves, and they did. There were quaint old-fashioned girls, pirates, spooks, clowns, a hacha man with a wicked twist from somewhere—Borneo maybe, Aunt Jemima and her pancake dough, Aunt Jemima's better half, gay caballeros and pure assumed 'savage'—fall-on-you Japanese, escaped convicts with a ball and chain—the kind you wear around your ankle, cigar girls and ballet dancers, little chaps in short pants and their little sisters, the king of Harlem and some undergraduates, a real knight in armor, Sadie from o' Bowerly—you betcha kid, the panico—ah me!, a pair of stars and stripes, and so on far into the night.

The dance started off in big style with a waltz and continued without a break until midnight when lunch was served and prizes given out for the best costumes. Prize-winners were: Ladies best character costume, Miss Ada Wiley as a ballet dancer, in an all-white costume; men's best character costume, Mr. H. P. Thorson as a Spanish caballero; ladies best comic costume, Mrs. Salisbury as Aunt Jemima; men's best comic costume, Kirk Snyder, as escaped convict No. 666; best couple waiting, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Greer. About 160 people were present and they all enjoyed themselves through to the last dance, "Home Sweet Home." The dance was sponsored by the I.O.O.F.

He further stated that Wainwright church should be congratulated on having such an aggressive and efficient minister as the Rev. Brooker, and that he had the backing of himself as well as the entire Presbytery. Mr. Brooker is 71 years young and will be in the firing line for Jesus Christ for several years yet.

Merchants Make Their TOWN

In going over the names of some towns the other day with a sales manager, he would frequently say, almost spitefully, "That town is no good."

I finally became curious and asked how he judged towns.

"Well," he replied, "I have always wondered why some towns are good and some are poor. On the train one day I got into conversation with a stranger. I was getting off at a certain town, and when I mentioned its name he said, 'That's a good town for us.' I thought that was strange, for merchant accounts could sell very little of our goods there. So I asked him what was his business, and why the town was so good for his line."

"He replied that he was a mail order man, and he told me how they pick towns which they circumscribe heavily. In a manner unknown to the newspapers, they regularly buy copies of all newspapers throughout the territory. If they find the local merchants are not advertising heavily, they put that town on their preferred list."

"I began observing towns myself then. Are the merchants good advertisers or not? That's a pretty good way for me to tell if the merchants in that town can sell our line."

This was all a new slant for me, but I can see the logic of it. And merchants have a big advantage for they advertise in the best read publication there is—the weekly newspaper. Read from cover to cover by everyone in the territory, it assures the merchant his advertising will also be read. No other type of publication is so newsworthy, so close to its readers, as the weekly newspaper—St. Paul Journal.

The Egyptians were not a grave and philosophical people. On the contrary, they were gay and cheerful.

MINERAL MATTER FOR FALL PIGS DISCUSSED

(Experimental Farms Note)

If properly fed a young pig will increase its weight one hundred times in six months, or from about two pounds at birth to about 200 at six months old. To produce this very rapid growth all the necessary elements, including minerals must be provided. If minerals are lacking in the ration, the pigs become unthrifty in condition, and growth is much slower. Spring pigs secure the necessary minerals largely from pastures and from eating the freshly rooted soil. Minerals from these sources are not available for fall litters, which are fed mainly in dry lots and pens, and an adequate mineral ration should be provided.

The minerals found in the ordinary home-grown hog feeds (oats and barley) are not sufficient to meet the needs of the rapidly growing hog and when these elements are lacking growth is immediately retarded. The mineral deficiencies in a ration can be remedied, however, by feeding supplementary mineral mixtures.

A simple mineral mixture which has been used successfully for a number of years at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta consists of 76 pounds of black coal, 20 pounds of salt, 3 pounds of sulphur. The mixture is fed in boxes, or in separate compartments of the self-feeder to which the pigs have access.

Feeding tests conducted at Lacombe, indicate clearly that when pigs get no dairy by-products, tankage, fish meal, or green feed, a mineral supplement should be fed furnishing lime and salt.

An experiment has been conducted over a period of two years to compare the rate and economy of gains of fall pigs receiving a ration of oats and barley only, with fall pigs allowed free access to the mineral mixture, above referred to, in addition to this grain. Both lots were self-fed and the mineral mixture was available to the one lot from a separate compartment of the self-feeder. The use of the mineral mixture increased the gains, on the average, by 52 per cent, and reduced the cost of gains by 34 per cent. In these experiments the pigs fed grain alone made on the average, a daily gain of only 0.03 of a pound, while those fed the mineral mixture in addition, made a daily gain of 0.06 of a pound. The cost of putting on 100 pounds live weight was reduced from $4.50 to $3.01. Feeding minerals to fall litters is not expensive and frequently makes the difference between profit and loss.

U. S. FARM BOARD HAS EFFECT ON WHEAT PRICE

For the past seven years the U.S.A. has averaged a yearly production of 343 million bushels of wheat, out of which they have sold for export, each year, an average of about 160 millions.

The United States crop is usually offered for sale in volume from July each year, and normally competes with Canadian wheat from about September 1st up to January, when both U.S.A. and Canada wheat have to face the competition of Argentina's new crop, and shortly afterwards Australian new crop as well.

On July 1st last the U.S.A. started her new crop year with the tremendous carry-over of 379 million bushels as compared with a similar carry-over of 123 million bushels in 1927, which was about normal. No small part of this carry-over, in the form of cash wheat and futures, was and is still controlled by the American Farm Board.

The price of American wheat has been consistently held for sometime past at a few cents a bushel above the world's market price, but the inevitable penalty has been paid that only a negligible quantity has been sold abroad instead of the usual large volume during this period. From July 1st to October 8th, for a seven years' average, the U.S.A. exported each year some 58 million bushels. This year, however, for this same period, she has only exported 8½ millions.

The American Farm Board evidently hoped that their action in withholding wheat might raise the world's price. Apparently quite the opposite has occurred, no doubt to some extent caused by fear that other pressure might oblige the single organization that held all this wheat perhaps suddenly, without notice, to offer it for sale in large volume on the world's markets. Apparently a hundred million bushels of wheat in the hands of one man or one institution is a much more depressing price factor than the same amount of wheat in the hands of many persons, because the one person or institution could easily make a sudden decision to throw unexpected quantities of wheat on the market, whereas many persons unassociated with each other would be most unlikely all at the same moment to come to any such disastrous decision.

So the International market awaits with some apprehension for the marketing of this great U.S.A. wheat surplus. Another crop of winter wheat is now being seeded in America and new legislation, "The Domestic Allotment Act," is being introduced before Congress with the object of inducing American farmers, efficient and inefficient alike, to reduce a definitely allotted percentage of their wheat acreage on both good land and poor.

Meanwhile those responsible for handling and marketing the farmers' wheat in Canada are selling Canada's 50 per cent greater export crop at a 50 per cent greater rate than last year, so taking full advantage of the opening in the world's markets at the expense of the U.S.A., just as did the Argentine in 1929 at the expense of Canada.

The age-long lesson of ineffectual attempt, artificially, to manipulate a surplus of foodstuffs, once again repeats itself—Searle Grain Company—Research Department.

The law case in which an English surgeon was sued for taking a fee for the removal of an appendix which another subsequently claimed to find intact within the patient recalls an incident of the appendicitis "boom" of a few years ago. A man, picked up unconscious in a New York street, was taken into a hospital where the resident doctor ordered the matron to have him prepared for the removal of his appendix. After being snubbed for suggesting that a preliminary examination might be well, she proceeded to carry out her instructions, to be checked however, by the discovery that tatooed across the patient's lower ribs was the legend: "Please do not remove my appendix; it has been done twice already."

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
By Betty Barclay

A delicious dish seems just a bit more delicious when it bears an attractive, a novel or a foreign name. Here are two unusual recipes for dishes that will please your guests. Incidentally, they prove once again how sugar may be used to bring out the subtle flavor of meats and vegetables:

Hongkong Chicken

2 cups cold cooked chicken, diced
1/2 cup celery, diced
2 onions, sliced
1/2 cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 teaspoon sugar
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon butter
Brown the celery and onions in the butter. Add the other ingredients. Heat well. Serve with fried noodles. Cideracote.

1 tender summer squash
2 tablespoon butter
2 roasting ears of corn
1 teaspoon sugar
Salt and pepper
Peel the squash and cut into cubes. Fry until tender in the butter, stirring frequently. Add the seasonings and the sweet corn cut from the cob. Have about a quarter as much corn as squash. Continue cooking until the corn is soft.

BISCUITS THAT APPEAL

Now that cooler weather is with us biscuits are again becoming popular—both hot and cold. Try these recipes for the kind of biscuits you have always wanted to serve:

Ten Biscuits

2 cups special cake flour, sifted
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cup butter or other shortening
2 1/3 cup milk (about)
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk gradually until soft dough is formed. Turn on floured board, knead lightly, roll 1/4 inch thick, and cut with floured biscuit cutter. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 to 14 minutes. Makes 24 biscuits.

Baking Powder Biscuits

2 cups special cake flour, sifted
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or other shortening

3/8 cup milk (about)
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk gradually until soft dough is formed. Roll 1/4 inch thick on slightly floured board. Cut with floured biscuit cutter. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes fifteen 2-inch biscuits.

GRAIN COMMISSIONERS TO EXHIBIT AT BIG SHOW

The Board of Grain Commissioners of Canada has applied for space in the new World's Grain Exhibition and Conference building for the purpose of an exhibit of wheat during the exhibition in 1933.

The Commission's exhibit will occupy a space of fifteen hundred square feet with one hundred feet frontage and the main feature of the display will be a demonstration of Canadian export grades and the influence of hard, red spring wheat, when mixed with the soft wheat of Europe, upon the quality, size and color of the bread loaf.

With this application of the Grain Commission practically two thirds of the available space in the new Grain River building has been applied for.

Here's the first of the Do Your Christmas Something or Other Early items. Already the lumbermen of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are getting ready for Santa Claus. They are now out in the woods chopping down Christmas trees. Practically all of these are shipped to Boston, New York and Philadelphia and the annual export averages 250,000 trees.

Hope Valley Notes

By Mrs. W. H. Roach

The service in Giles school last Sunday afternoon in charge of the International Bible Students association (Jehovah's Witnesses) was very well attended. The address given was said to be very interesting.

Mr. Albert Wilson and family are moving to the farm just vacated by Mr. H. F. Lane. Mr. Wilson was been farming Mr. W. E. Perkins' land in this vicinity. Mr. Lail Wilson will remain in our neighborhood.

The pupils of Giles school have organized a Red Cross society with Allan Taylor Stevenson as president, Alec Treflak as treasurer and Leone Roach as secretary.

Mr. John L. Pugh is planning to spend the winter in England, sailing about the end of November.

Hope Valley was very well represented at the Lane sale on Wednesday. Many of Mr. Lane's pupils from this locality said farewell to him on that occasion. Mr. Lane was a teacher at Giles school some sixteen years ago.

"I Gotta Order More Robin Hood Flour"

AT this time of year flour bins are as bare as this youngster. It is time to lay in a supply of good, dependable Robin Hood flour.

Most women now know that the reason Robin Hood flour is so CLEAN and PURE is because the wheat is scrubbed and scoured in mammoth wheat washers before milling. Many, however, have asked this question: "Why is it I get bigger loaves and more of them from a bag of Robin Hood?" Here is one of the reasons:

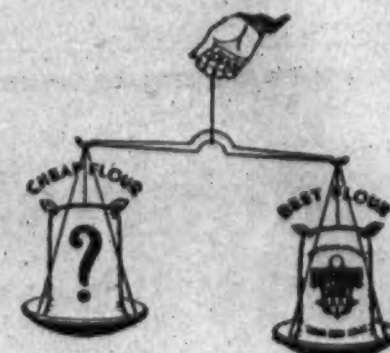

When the wheat berry is ground in milling, dust and fibre are present. Between your thumb and finger this fibre feels like lint from a carpet sweeper. If left in the flour, it becomes a deadweight to the dough. Robin Hood Mills removes this fibre with an intricate system of silk sieves, some of them as fine as 125 meshes to the inch. Only the pure granules of flour pass through the sieves . . . the dust and fibre is taken off and used for hog feed.

Dust and fibre present in CHEAP, poorly milled flours retard the action of yeast in the dough, resulting in small, flat loaves, heavy in texture and unappetizing in flavor. Robin Hood flour naturally goes farther in baking because it consists only of CLEAN, PURE flour granules—no dust, no fibre. When mixed in the dough, it responds to yeast gases readily and the bread rises high in the pans, producing more loaves of better bread.

Robin Hood flour protects your health and your pocket book. It is both safe and economical.

STUDY THIS PICTURE— THEN THINK

The difference in cost between CLEAN, PURE Robin Hood flour, and CHEAP, poorly milled flour is only 1c PER DAY FOR A FAMILY OF FOUR.

Dear young bachelors of Wainwright, I am coming to you one and all, I am looking for a husband. I offer you a pair of the prettiest dark brown eyes, black-brown curly hair, cupid mouth (Ed. Sligo Comments

By Kathleen Reynolds

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smaile and daughter Gladys have returned home from the city. They motored up last week-end.

Miss Kathleen Reynolds has also returned from the city. While in the city she visited her sister who is attending high school there.

On Saturday last the Sunnyvale Junior U.F.A. met at the home of Mrs. Reynolds. After the business part, the meeting took the form of a social evening. Everyone enjoyed themselves by playing games. Joan Lane, the guest of the evening, was presented with an autograph album with each member's picture and a little verse in it. We all wish Joan the best of luck in her new surroundings. Everyone joined hands and sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Then lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lane and family left our community on Thursday evening. On Wednesday they had their sale which was a successful one. Mr. Lane is going to teach in Southampton, England. The family will be missed by their many friends.

Anglican church service was held at Sligo school Sunday at 3 p.m.

Misses Kathleen and Joyce Reynolds are moving to Edgerton for the winter months. Joyce is attending high school in that town.
